High Jewelry

CPG Joaillerie

For more than 15 years, Cannelle Poncin Germain has been creating Haute Joaillerie pieces for the prestigious Maisons of Place Vendôme, and for major jewelry brands around the world. Naturally, she founded CPG Joaillerie in Paris.

Renowned for her unique creations, she also has a passion for gouache, a traditional jewelry painting technique in which pearls and precious stones are transcribed as if they were identical, giving life to a hyper-realistic painting. Eager to push back the limits of these techniques, she decided to innovate by adapting the art of gouache to the world of decoration.

Véronique de Soultrait

The passion of ropes

In the heart of the Véronique de Soultrait workshop, a new artisanal know-how emerges: the art of braiding threads and ropes. Véronique de Soultrait diffuses her elegant touch in all her creations be it wall panels, headboards, screens or drawer fronts, to deliver a high-quality quality product every time. Passionate about weaving techniques, she utilizes traditional knitting techniques, inspired by lace and macramé work, to transform ordinary materials into fashionable decor. The former painter and decorator mastered the art of texture assembly and produced extraordinary and unique pieces of art. From her workshop in Lyon, she designs every piece with meticulous care, utilizing a deeply personal know-how that is just as is rigorous, demanding, perfectionistic and refined as its creator.
